Computation of LCL Rates

Ocean LCL Rates are charged per Weight or Measurements of the shipment, whichever yields greater revenue to the carrier.

W = Weight = 1000 kilos = 2204.6 pounds

M = Measurement = 1 cubic meter = 35.31

cubic feet to calculate the correct Ocean Freight LCL charges, we need to know the actual gross Weight of the shipment in kilos or pounds and the Measurements of each box or package; Length, Width and Height in inches or centimeters.

To calculate the Measurements of a shipment, take the greatest Length x greatest Width x greatest Height in inches times the total number of packages then divide by 1728 then times by 0.02832 will result in cubic meters.

Email: info@ntnlogistics.com

One kilogram = 2.2046 pounds

One meter = 100 centimeters

One Cubic Meter = 35.31 Cubic Feet

One Cubic Foot = 1728 Cubic Inches

Cross Trades/Triangle/3rd Country Shipments

---

NTN LOGISTICS keeping abreast of the increasing trend for the trade between 3 countries promises to do smooth handling of the trade service between 3 countries in need of prompt business handling through this company-possessed network of partners located at each country of the world to make it possible to do handling of the complicated documents and transport process more conveniently.

Trade between 3 countries?

It's the form of trade, in which a trader from the 3rd country intervenes in transactions in trade between an exporting country and importing country in order to achieve transportation, and it is widely used in toll processing

SWITCH B/L?

As B/L mostly used in triple trade, there is a Switch B/L, in which an entrepot trader is changed into an exporter at a third place by collecting B/L issued by a shipping company or a forwarder at a place of shipment or handling it as a surrender on request of an entrepot trader in order for an importer to exclude an entrepot trader to prevent the transactions with an actual supplier. In other words, this B/L is aimed at hiding an actual supplier, and an entrepot trader comes to request it of a forwarder or a shipping company.

Strengths of Triangular Trade

It's possible to adjust the invoice value through the protection of an actual supplier and importers information leak.

Increase in trade smoothness through overseas relocation of domestic factories
